Friday, November 22, 5:30 p.m. — Attila Zoller, renowned European jazz guitarist and quartette. Cash bar.

The word from Senator James L. Buckley is to expect a provocative talk on Thursday, October 31, at 12 noon, when he speaks at a Club luncheon.

In addition to his talk, he'll be available to answer all members' questions on Nixon, Ford, inflation, politics, the Washington scene, and whatever is on your mind.

James L. Buckley club officer and director.

A 51-year old former businessman and attorney, Senator Buckley was elected as the candidate of New York's Conservative Party in a three-way race in 1970. A life-long Republican, he lists himself as "Conservative-Republican" in the Congressional Directory. "I believe in the two-party system," Senator Buckley quips: "The Conservatives and the Republicans."

"The Senate provides a kind of voice box," he says, "which enables me to get across what I think are basically common sense views to the American public. For too long the floor of the Senate has been dominated by one viewpoint."

The volume and tenor of his mail suggest that he is beginning to succeed in these efforts. After three years in office, Senator Buckley has received an estimated three-quarters of a million pieces of mail, and many thousand speaking requests from New York State and across the nation.

After graduation from Yale Law School in 1949, Senator Buckley joined the law firm of Wiggan and Dana. In 1953, he joined the Catawba Corporation, a firm that provides administrative, technical and financial services to petroleum and mineral exploration companies. As a vice president of Catawba, Senator Buckley traveled an average of 50,000 miles a year outside the United States during

OPC WILL WEIGH THREE AMENDMENTS

The Board of Governors will present these three Amendments to the OPC Constitution for vote at the OPC's semi-annual membership meeting on Tuesday, October 29 at 8 p.m.:

1. To eliminate the stipulation that Active members must be employed by "American-owned media";

2. To reduce to 5 years the present 10-year requisite news experience for Associate members;

3. To clarify the final phrase in the Constitution definition of Paragraph C, Section 3, Article III, which now reads: "but shall not include promotional or house organs." The new wording recommended by the

terHORST INVITED TO 'TALKING SHOP'

Jerald F. terHorst, former press secretary to President Ford, will be the "Talking Shop With . . ." luncheon speaker at the OPC on Monday, November 18th.

terHorst, who is now a national columnist for the Detroit News, resigned as Ford's chief press officer following the Nixon pardon.

His appearance at the OPC will coincide with the publication of his book — "Gerald Ford and the Future of the Presidency" published by The Third Press.

Larry Stessin is the Chairman of the OPC's "Talking Shop With . . ." programs.

Cartoonist Jerry Robinson, right, presents two signed originals to Gen. Alexander Haig, stand-in for Henry Kissinger who had requested them. Second China trip took Kissinger from Washington on day Robinson's presentation ceremony was scheduled.

INNOVATIVE SEXTET TO BRING NEW JAZZ CONCEPTS TO CONCERT

"New Jazz Concepts," an innovative sextet featuring the creative and spontaneous new sounds in jazz by outstanding young artists, will be presented in a twilight jazz session, Friday, October 25 from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. by the Overseas Jazz Club. No reservations necessary and admission is free to members and guests. Cash bar.

The program was inspired by Charles McGee, trumpeter, and winner of the First Louis Armstrong Memorial Scholarship Award. Young McGee has appeared on several occasions at OPC jazz sessions and brings with him for this special event, fellow trumpeter, Dave Rocha, a brilliant, masterful West Coast artist; the "Cosmic Twins" — Ron Burton, piano and John Lewis, drums. Together they are current stars on a remarkable piano-drum album just released by Strata-East, "The Water-bearers"; Allie Richardson, bassist with big band credits and OPC veteran; Ryo Kawasaki, guitarist, well known in Tokyo jazz circles and rounding out his first year on the U.S. jazz scene.

NEWSMEN'S CONCERN OVER INCURSION OF AUTOMATION GROWS

By LARRY STESSIN, Chairman
"Talking Shop With..." Program

"Revolution in the Newsroom," the hottest story in journalism today, will be the subject of a "Talking Shop With..." program on Tuesday, November 12th at 5:30 p.m.

Combining a movie and a discussion by two top editors, the program will cover the impact of automation on the editing and transmission of news.

Bob Haring, editor of Financial Services for the Associated Press, and David Steinberg, Vice President of PR Newswire and former New York Herald Tribune business writer, will demonstrate the vast changes now going on in the processing of news stories both here and abroad.

The film, produced by United Press International, dramatizes the role that the computer is playing in the handling of copy from reporter to reader. Over 75% of the newspapers in the U.S. are now using mechanization in which stories flow from the reporter's copy to the printing press without the touch of a human hand.

ILLUSTRATED HISTORY OF COMIC STRIP ART TOPIC OF NOV. 7 NIGHT

By RUTH BIEMILLER

Pencil in Thursday, November 7, as Jerry Robinson Day at the OPC. To mark publication by Putnam of Robinson's hefty, nostalgic and vastly entertaining The Comics: An Illustrated History of Comic Strip Art, a combination book night and exhibition opening is scheduled from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

The exhibition will feature cartoon classics from 1895 to the present, including original tear sheets of the Yellow Kid, the Katzenjammer Kids, Polly and Her Pals and Little Nemo.

The second event will be a live demonstration of the art of cartooning in which Robinson will be joined by Alfred Andriola, creator of Kerry Drake and current president of the Newspaper Comics Council.

OPCers are familiar with Jerry Robinson's still life, a satirical panel which in better days was the bright spot of many an issue of The Bulletin and which is syndicated by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News. In Flubs & Fluffs, a N.Y. News feature, Robinson reconstructs with his pen actual classroom scenes reported by readers.

A past president of the National Cartoonists Society, Robinson is a three-time winner of that group's Reuben Award. He was one of three artists chosen to represent the U.S. at the Montreal Pavilion of Humor in Bordighera, Italy, receiving the Presidente Senato Medal in 1967.

3 AMENDMENTS...

Constitution Committee would read: "but shall not include promotional publications of any organization or movement, or house organs."

Amendments 2 and 3 were presented on behalf of the Constitution Committee by its chairman, Matt Bassity. Other committee members are Helen Alpert, George Burns, Jack Frummer, Joseph Peters, John Noble Wilford.

In further action, the Board has confirmed the election of the following regional chairmen:

John Heffernan, Washington, D.C.; Cecil Brown, Far West (Los Angeles); Paul Mason, East Central (Philadelphia); Enrique Rojas-Vela, South America (Buenos Aires); Albert Kaff, Far East Asia (Hong Kong).

As provided in our Constitution the above regional chairmen are now ex officio members of the OPC Board.

Other already established regions are about to elect new chairmen and some new regions are in the process of formation.

WOODING JAZZ BAND SHOOK UP AFICIONADOS

Jazz enterprenuer Sam Wooding played to SRO and FRSO (floor sitting room only) when his new ten-piece band made its debut at The OPC on Friday, Sept. 27.

Known as the "New Sam Wooding Band with Rae Harrison," the combination of outstanding jazz veterans and exhilarating new talent provided more than 200 club members and guests with an exciting evening.

It marked the fifth season of OPC Jazz sessions. Even the Under-30 jazz aficionados found irresistible the insistent beat, the tonal configurations and the modern jazz idioms.

The show-stopper certainly was Rae Harrison, a Wooding protege, with her high hot-sweet metallic voice which won her a spontaneous ovation.

Sam Wooding, "Black Dean of Jazz," lived up to his title.

the 15 years prior to his election.

Senator Buckley was born in New York City, March 9, 1923. He was the fourth of 10 children of William Frank and Aloise Steiner Buckley. Senator Buckley married the former Ann Francis Cooley in May of 1953. They have five sons and one daughter.

EXPERT ON ENERGY TO INFORM PUBLIC

John Sawhill, Administrator of the Federal Energy Administration has announced the creation of a National Energy Information Center to answer the public's questions about fuel and other energy matters. The Center, located in FEA's Washington headquarters, will be staffed by energy experts, and will have available the latest information on production, imports, and supplies of petroleum, gasoline, and other petroleum products. Within the limits imposed by law to protect proprietary information, the Center will make available all energy-related information collected in all FEA programs, as well as information collected by other Federal agencies.

The Center will operate within FEA's Office of the Assistant Administrator for Policy and Analysis. It will be under the direction of Dr. Daniel Rathbun, Deputy Asst. Administrator for Data. The Center is now operational, and may be reached by dialing any of these four numbers: (202) 961-8486, 961-8685, 961-8686, or 961-8687.
